Nolato Stargard Sp. z o.o.

Nolato Stargard Sp. z o.o. is a subcontractor in the production of medical devices, whose primary goal is to maintain a repeatable high level of quality.

We meet the detailed requirements, needs and expectations of our customers and interested parties by providing products and services of the appropriate quality in a timely manner.

We achieve this by:

- maintaining and continuously improving our quality management system, which meets the requirements of EN ISO 13485:2016, EN ISO 9001:2015 and legal regulations,
- continuously improving our operating activities,
- regular control of quality indicators through analysis and systematic management reviews,
- conducting internal and external audits,
- promptly responding to problems and non-compliances by implementing corrective and preventive actions and verifying the quality management system,
- developing a sense of responsibility for quality among our employees,
- improving employees' qualifications through systematic training.

All operations comply with applicable standards and regulations in terms of quality. We strive to ensure that our suppliers have an effective quality system in place.

The satisfaction of our customers and the quality of products and services is assessed through surveys and deviation recording.

The Quality Policy is known, understood and respected by all employees of the company.
